Board-CUPE sign new 2 year contract

The Haliburton County Board of Education and members of the CUPE union, Local 142, have reached an agreement on a two year contract. Terms of the new contract, which takes effect January 1, were accepted at the November 26 meeting of the board.

The contract calls for a 42¢ per hour increase during the first year of the pact, plus an additional 45¢ in the second year.

The contract covers workers employed as cleaners, custodians, night watchmen, clerk typists, secretaries teacher's aides and study hall supervisors. Two new classifications, cleaner and clerk typist, were added to the contract this year.

Under the terms of the agreement, salaries for the positions mentioned above will range from $6.49 per hour for a teacher's aide to $10.27 per hour for a night watchman with at least three year's experience. That range will change to $6.94 per hour to $10.72 per hour in January, 1987.

Employees covered by the contract will also have 85% of their OHIP, Blue Cross and extended health care coverage paid by the board. Previously the board covered 75% of the cost. In January 1987 the board's subsidy will increase to 90%.

Among the other terms of the new agreement is that December 24 will become a full day paid holiday, that employees will not lose seniority if required to take a leave of absence to serve on a jury and that a CUPE representative will be part of a committee considering the implementation of a dental plan covering all board employees.

Council leaves $450,000 in reserve accounts

As the outgoing council of the municipality of Anson, Hindon and Minden prepares to hand over the reins of power, they will leave as part of their legacy a municipal government that is in sound financial shape.

According to a report presented at the last regular meeting of council by Deputy Reeve Ed Pergolas, the working reserves of the municiaplity are in excess of $450,000.

Working reserves are monies set aside through bylaw for specific purposes.

Included in the total reserve funds are $145,468 in the general working reserves, $35,800 for arena equipment, $54,431 in reserves for equipment purchases for the Public Works Department, $29,710 in sick leave credits, $21,494 in planning and zoning reserves, $31,900 in the main street reserve, $12,700 in the Fire Department tanker reserve and $5000 in the municipal building reserve.

A further $68,878 is contained in the Planning Act reserve fund which is made up of funds received by the municipality from the sale of parkland, shoreline and concession allowances.

The plexiglass fund which has built up from donations from the Minor Hockey Association and local service groups totals $6,185.

Donations from grateful clients have been put into a special ambulance reserve fund and totals $440.

During the past three years the municipality has also accumulated $25,962 in reserve funds for the municipal water system.

Previously the system was owned and operated by the Ministry of the Environment and although the reserve funds established by the Ministry totalling in excess of $45,000 were to be turned over to the municipality, those funds are still forthcoming.

Jury finds safety procedures lacking

The death of an MTC employee, Alan Douglas Brown of Kinmount, has resulted in a number of safety recommendations by a coroner's jury.

The five member jury made four recommendations on safety procedures after hearing nearly six hours of testimony at an inquest conducted by Regional Coroner Dr. J.P. MacKay on Friday in Minden. Witnesses, who included Mr. Brown's co-workers and supervisors and several safety experts, were questioned by Crown Attorney Alex Smith and lawyers representing the MTC, the Ontario Public Service Employees Union and the family of Mr. Brown.

The jury determined that Brown, aged 60, drowned while apparently clearing debris from the mouth of a culvert on Highway 503 near Irondale on the afternoon of September 6.

The patrol supervisor, Ron Little, and Mr. Brown's co-worker Robert Swanton, told the court the area north of the highway had flooded following heavy rains when the culvert became blocked. The obstruction at the mouth of the culvert was cleared on the morning of September 6.

That afternoon Brown and Swanton returned to the site and while Brown waited beside the flooded area near the highway, Swanton walked upstream to determine the extent of the flooding. When he returned to the highway fifteen minutes later Brown was missing.

After searching unsuccessfully for his co-worker, Swanton contacted his patrol supervisor who in turn notified the Minden Detachment of the OPP.

At approximately 4:25 p.m. the body of Mr. Brown was discovered lying face down in several feet of water south of the highway, by Constable Bill Clendenning.

Clendenning told the court he believed Brown had slipped into the water north of the highway and had been pulled through the four foot diameter culvert under the roadway and swept along to the point where his body was found caught on a fence.

Robert Naish, an occupational health and safety officer with the Ontario Ministry of Labour, who was called to the scene when Brown was reported missing, concurred with the officer's testimony. He told the court he had concluded Brown had slipped into the deep water near the mouth of the culvert and had been hampered in his efforts to reach shore when his hip waders filled with water.

Students learn risks of drinking and driving

Young people in Mrs. Chamber's 7-B class at Archie Stouffer Elementary School in Minden recently had an opportunity to reflect seriously on the consequences of drinking and driving. Led by OPP Constable Gary Chapman, the students took part in an inquest into a fictitious motor vehicle accident which claimed two lives and seriously injured two others.

The students prepared a report on the exercise and we are pleased to present their findings here. The summary of the evidence presented to the jury was prepared by Kelsey Newbatt, Jarett Gentle and Scott McKinlay with recommendations offered by these students and Mark Klages, David Nicholls and Robie Ackerblade:

Accident summary

Here's what happened:

There were five teenagers at a party. Their driver was an eighteen year old, he was under age for drinking. His 19 year old friend at the party had purchased some liquor for him.

The one fourteen year old girl had to be home at twelve o'clock p.m., but their driver didn't want to leave so soon. The other four convinced him to go.

As soon as they got into the car, the driver squealed his tires, and started driving very fast. They drove like that for many miles. Then when they came around a sharp corner, the car flipped into midair. That was all the kids could remember.

There were only two survivors, both fourteen years old. One was a girl the other a boy. Two passengers were thrown out of the car and died at the scene. The driver was killed instantly.

The two survivors will have permanent injuries and were both confined to the Toronto hospital for five weeks.

Recommendations

- More advertising is needed to stop drinking and driving.
- More policemen should be on the road.
- A bumper sticker campaign warning of the dangers is needed.
- Someone should be available to give the kids a ride home from the party.
- The drinking age should be increased.
- Young people should be told about the dangers of drinking and driving through visits like the one made by Constable Chapman.

Rabies vaccinations will be compulsory next September 4

It will be compulsory for all cats and dogs in the county to be immunized against rabies starting next September 1. A provincial regulation allowing the local medical officer of health to impose the regulation came into effect December 1.

The regulation, which is being added to the Health Protection and Promotion Act, enables the local medical officer of health to require the compulsory immunization of cats and dogs over three months of age in his jurisdiction where he is of the opinion that the program is warranted and will benefit the public.

Three health units have already asked the ministry to apply the regulation to their areas. It takes effect in the Borough of East York Health Unit on December 1 this year, the Haldimand-Norfolk Regional Health Unit on April 1, 1986 and the Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge District Health Unit on September 1, 1986. Several other health units have approached the ministry to discuss being included in the regulation.

"Ministry statistics show that during the first ten months of 1985 there were 1,651 reported cases of rabies among animals," Mr. Elston, Ontario Ministry of Health said. "This is 43 per cent more than the number of cases reported in the same period in 1984, when 1,156 cases were reported.

"In addition, so far this year, the number of treatments for human beings who have been exposed has increased eight per cent from 1,626 in 1984 to 1,758."

While most of the reported cases of rabies occur among wild animals such as foxes and skunks, the major threat to people is through pets that have been exposed to rabies in wildlife. Rabies in pets causes between 50 and 60 per cent of human exposures and anti-rabies treatments.

Local medical officers of health are expected to consult with local veterinarians to arrange for lower cost rabies vaccination clinics to be available once a year in each community where it is made compulsory.

Pet owners will receive an immunization certificate from their veterinarian indicating when the animal was vaccinated and when it is due to be re-immunized. They will also receive a rabies vaccination identification tag for their dog or cat.

Where necessary, the medical officer of health may exempt aged or infirm animals from immunization provided the animal is not permitted to come into direct physical contact with anyone other than the animal's owner of caretaker.

Local medical officers of health will have the option of extending this regulation to animals used for recreation and exhibition, such as saddle horses or animals in fairs.

Council suggests new post be retained

In one of their last acts in office, Anson, Hindon and Minden municipal council has recommended to the incoming council members that the position of Community Services Co-ordinator be retained.

The position was created by council in January and has been filled by Brian Sisson, the arena manager and parks and recreation superintendent.

In a resolution passed unanimously, council recommended the position be retained in order to provide planned co-operative use of municipal equipment and manpower when required by the various municipal departments; a central purchasing policy; administrative assistance for special projects such as the proposed LEAD building and other grant programs and assistance to the roads department with reports, estimates, expense monitoring etc., as seen required by council and the superintendent until such time as that department is able to train one of it's employees for such tasks.

Council also passed a resolution directing a payment of $800 to Sisson in recognition of his additional workload and responsibilities carried out while maintaining his duties as the arena manager and parks superintendent.

Worker drowns in culvert

mortem he was reasonably sure that drowning was the cause of death. He noted that while there were indications of a history of heart disease, there was no evidence Brown had suffered a heart attack just prior to his death, but added he could not rule out the possibility that Brown lost his balance during an angina attack and had slipped into the water.

While it was determined the accident occurred around 4 p.m. Friday, much of the enquiry centered around the attempts to clear the culvert that morning.

Robert Swanton testified that when he and Alan Brown first visited the site at 8:30 a.m., they had been unable to remove the stakes located at the north end of the culvert because of the high level of water. He estimated there was five to six feet of water over the culvert.

He explained the stakes were placed at the entrance to the culvert to prevent beavers from entering the pipe and constructing dams. He added that the men on the Kinmount patrol frequently have to clear debris that accumulates against the stakes that block the entrance of large culverts.

When water backs up, the workers remove the debris using rakes, then pull the stakes out to prevent a further build up while the water recedes. Because the water was so deep, Swanton and Brown decided to use a boat to remove the stakes and debris. They returned with an aluminum fishing boat owned by Brown but were again unable to remove the obstruction.

Later that morning an MTC backhoe was used to pull most of the stakes out after Swanton hooked a chain from the bucket of the backhoe to the top of each stake. He told the court that while working from the boat he had to reach to his shoulder while attaching the chain.

He testified that while there had been no instances of flooding at that site the men on the Kinmount patrol frequently have to clear culverts and dozens of beaver dams that cause flooding near highways.

Under questioning, he said that aside from safety boots, hardhats and safety vests, none of the men working at the site were using water safety equipment and that there was no water safety equipment available at the Kinmount patrol yard.

No water safety courses

He noted that while he and his fellow workers have received safety training, none of the courses concerned water safety. He also said that in his opinion Alan Brown was very safety conscious.

Don MacDonald, the Bancroft District Engineer, told the court that following an order from the Ministry of Labour in late September, all patrol yards in the district had been issued lifejackets, lifelines and ring buoys.

He added there is only one boat in the district which is kept at the Bancroft patrol yard and used mainly for work on bridges.

When asked if he had any recommendations concerning work around water he stated the provisions of the Occupational Health and Safety Act adequately cover safety measures to be taken.

Section 37 of the act states that when workers are exposed to the dangers of drowning, two workers must be available if a rescue is necessary and that boat hooks, life jackets and life lines must be available.

When work is conducted around culverts a safety line must be strung across the mouth of the culvert, the act states.

Ronald Swain, the lawyer representing the Brown family said he found it shocking that workers were involved in a very hazardous operation while two supervisors were looking on, yet none of the men were wearing proper safety equipment.

MacDonald replied that he would not have carried out the operation in the same manner himself, but commented that MTC employees have been working for years in similar situations and have become so used to the job they do not recognise the hazards.

Under questioning he stated no one has ever raised concerns over the potential dangers involved in clearing culverts or beaver dams. Robert Naish testified that while MTC workers and supervisors have in his opinion a reasonable standard of awareness of safety procedures, he has witnessed workers carrying out dangerous tasks adding he believes in these cases the employees have become used to the work and do not realise how hazardous it is.

He agreed with several other witnesses that the safety regulations in effect at the time of the death of Mr. Brown were sufficient but suggested procedures undertaken to clear culverts and beaver dams should be reviewed to determine if better methods can be developed and that workers should receive training in these procedures.

A Mr. Slavicki, manager of the Occupational Health and Safety office of the MTC, testified there is a comprehensive safety program in the ministry and well trained safety officers in each district. In spite of the sophisticated safety measures accidents still occur, he said, and when asked why the problem encountered around flooded areas was overlooked, Slavicki suggested the workers become used to the dangers and overlook them.

He conceded there are no specific directives from the ministry concerning work conducted around water.

In his concluding remarks, Crown Attorney Alex Smith read a list of recommendations agreed upon by the Crown and the three lawyers and asked the jury to consider them in arriving at their verdict.

Four recommendations

After an hour and a half of deliberations, the jury returned with the three recommendations and an additional recommendation concerning local problems.

The jury recommended that:

1. The employer and the employees union ensure that a joint safety analysis be conducted on work of this type so as to develop proper procedures to be followed and these procedures be implemented through the ministry immediately.

2. Safety equipment should be made available and should be used in accordance with the provisions of the Occupational Health and Safety Act and regulations made thereunder throughout the ministry.

3. The employer should ensure that supervisors and workers are adequately trained on an annual basis with respect to recognising hazards of this type in the workplace and the safety measures that should be taken in accordance with the Occupational Health and Safety Act.

4. The employer (should) ensure a more localised reporting system to allow the employees the opportunity to address safety hazard concerns specific to their district.

Lights come down

After being in place for one year, the Christmas lights that line both sides of the main street in downtown Minden are being removed.

Following complaints from some downtown merchants over the appearance of the lights, municipal work crews began removing the strings of lights on Monday.

During a discussion at Anson, Hindon and Minden council on Thursday, councillor Gary Kenney reported a suggestion had been made by a representative of the BIA that merchants who are interested be given several strings of lights each to display over the Christmas season.

It was also reported that Community Services Co-ordinator Brian Sisson had suggested that strings of lights could be used to outline the Sunnyside bridge and evergreens along the river.

Since this was the final meeting of the present council, the members decided to leave any further decisions regarding the lights to the incoming council.

A new term

This week, in townships throughout the county, new municipal councils are taking their oaths of office and assuming the duties and responsibilities residents of their communities have asked them to accept. For many, the occasion will mark a special milestone in their lives. They will be assuming an elected position of trust for the first time. Others will see the occasion as another extension of their already lengthy term of public service.

In both cases, the start of a new term also marks a fresh beginning. The animosities of the campaign have faded now, the records of previous councils, though important, are not necessarily baggage the new council must carry, the slate is clean and ready for new impressions.

We salute these councils and the board of education as they begin their three year term. We wish them, collectively and as individuals, best of luck in carrying out their responsibilities. We know the next three years may not be all smooth sailing, but we feel certain most councillors and trustees will not find it dull.

One comment, as the new term begins. Leadership comes in many forms. It can mean setting an example for the community, providing careful stewardship of the community's resources, and, sometimes making decisions which may not be popular with all concerned. Indeed, leadership often means showing the way when others are reluctant or unable to see the wisdom of the choice. Members of council should be aware of these responsibilities which come with public office.

The responsibilities of the public have not evaporated either with the marking of a ballot. Conscientous citizens are informed, encouraging and supportive, while also providing critical but fair analysis of the events of the day.

The elected official and citizen who is represented shares a responsibility in seeing the best is done for the community. All parties should dedicate themselves to that ideal now as a new term begins.

Editor:

Re: $300.00 worth of nothing.

This relates to my letter to the Stanhope Township Council and read at the November 13, 1985 meeting and published by you in your editorial comments in "jack's world".

HMM! and DOUBLE HMM! I do believe "jack's world" is a fantasy. I sure hope that all of the people in Stanhope Township and the Haliburtons in general don't share the attitude of the editor of the Minden Times.

My letter to town council concerned the procedure on how to apply for road closings with respect to the 66 foot shoreline allowance as a result of a notice I found in my cottage door one weekend. When I wrote the letter to council I was not aware who put the paper in my door and from the very contents of the notice I found, it surely appeared to have come from the township. I have since found out differently and have received a little pamphlet from the council explaining the situation.

My closing comments were that I wanted to know why the council can charge for land that should belong to the cottagers. As we all know, most cottages were built on the 66 foot allowance and the townships simply passed a law that said it was legal because it would be too unrealistic to move them all. But back to the main concern I expressed over all - why can the township of the Province simply not revert the 66 foot allowance back to the cottagers where it is not required by the township or Province for no charge as opposed to the fee charged plus administrative fees plus legal fees for both sides. It might amount to $1,000 or more. I ended with the statement that it is the cottagers who now maintain this property without help from the township who simply collect a lot of taxes for a lot of nothing.

Therein lies the problem to poor "jack's world". "A lot of taxes for a lot of nothing". Totally misinterpreted by poor Jack. He goes on and on to explain how for "less than a dollar a day" I can come to the Haliburtons to enjoy being awakened by a loon (or was it a looney from "jack's world") and get away for the fresh air, clean lakes, etc., etc. and to walk trails where nature abounds, or simply become lost in the stillness of a quiet day. Just like "jack's world" to say the least.

Well, Mr. Editor, I 'bought' this cottage and I am still paying for it. Why? You ask. Because I like it for all that it is. It is the high taxes for nothing that I am complaining about. Even the hydro taxes the cottage owner $113.00 plus for having hydro in the cottage. Yes. We pay $113.00 plus the hydro we use. For one year of using my cottage during the months of August (that's when I bought it) through to September the following year (1985) I paid just over $300.00. Quite an amazing number in cottage country. And I don't even use the cottage in the winter months. But then we city people have lots of money, don't we?

But, Mr. Editor of 'jack's world', you forget that it is the cottager who complains about his taxes that spends many many dollars in the Haliburtons for groceries, gasoline, oil, boat parts, hardware supplies, fishing supplies and countless other things not to mention hiring local business establishments to make renovations, dig wells and other things. Even buying the local newspapers and having them sent to their homes over the winter months to keep abreast of the community and try to be a part of it somehow. Which brings me to another point.

You printed my letter to the council and saw fit to take a verbal poke at me but you never had the courtesy to send that article to let me know it was printed. "Oh", you say, "but you are receiving the paper." Yes, but I am sure you were not aware of it. It seems that you are quite willing to take a shot at the cottager because obviously you don't like them. Maybe the city folks are smarter than you because we subscribe to the local papers to keep abreast and learn what people who live in "jack's world" have to say about them. Fortunately, we don't see too many swipes and those are usually from those who have been in the quiet too long watching the looney birds (or was that loons) and biting the hands that feed them. Now I sound like I'm from "jack's world".

I envy the residents of the Haliburtons who live there on a year round basis. I would too if I had the means to do it. But then, I like the big city with its parks and trails and wildlife and clean streets and the lack of 747's buzzing around my house and the odd siren wailing.

But back to the heart of the matter - TAXES!!! I am still getting nothing from the council of the Township of Stanhope from my taxes that I can see, touch or smell. Where is my money and the money from all the cottagers going? To the residents who live in the township on an annual basis. That's where.

Now, I am writing to the council again and I am asking these questions:

(1) How many cottage properties are there and how much tax is collected from them in total?

(2) How many permanent residences are there and how much tax is collected from them in total?

(3) How many business pay tax and how much is collected from them?

(4) What is the average tax paid per annum by a permanent resident?

(5) How many unimproved properties are there that pay tax and how much is collected from them?

Mr. Editor from "jack's world", I am inviting you to come to Scarborough and take a walk through some of the best parks anywhere with its wildlife and peace and quiet without the roar of jets or the wail of sirens. I live all of two blocks from just such a park where you can walk for miles without crossing a major street. And not too far from this park, and in fact, it runs into this park, I can show you exotic animals from all parts of the world. Its called a ZOO. Better than "jack's world", I'll bet.

To the residents of Haliburton Highlands, I hope that none of you feel the same way towards all cottagers as apparently does the Editor of the Minden Times. I absolutely love the country even with its high taxes, high hydro rates and high insurance charges which allow me to enjoy my weekends and holidays on a quiet and peaceful lake. If I didn't like it I am sure I would not pay the high cost of gasoline to drive up there every weekend in the "rush hour" traffic that clogs the highways with cottagers similar to myself and then turn around on Sunday evenings with a long face and have to fight the rush back again. No Mr. Editor from "jack's world", TAXES do not pay for these things. We the cottagers do. In time as well as money.

I trust that my side of the story will see print in your next episode of "jack's world"? And by the way, you won't have to send me a copy of your paper, I have an annual subscription. Or at least I did.

Maurice Woods,
Scarborough and Peace Lake.

Editor's Note: Contrary to what has been indicated above, the editor does not dislike cottagers.

Federation of Ontario Naturalists

Now that the nip of December is in the air, and the crispy remnant of fallen leaves are fast disappearing beneath new-white snow, the crackle of fire in the hearth takes on an added attraction.

Fueling the hearth can mean hours of toil in "getting up the wood" assuming, of course, that you are one of those who believes that real men don't buy their firewood. Now an American researcher, who has obviously spent more than a few sweaty hours on the end of an axe, has published his expose on six myths about splitting wood in the most recent issue of American Forests.

Myth No. 1 is to split from the bottom, not from the top, of your bolt of wood. After splitting carefully matched pieces both ways, researcher David Tresemer concludes that the average time difference is 1/100th of a second. In other words, it makes no difference. But Myth No. 2 was upheld - it is indeed more efficient to split wood along the check lines that appear after a few weeks' seasoning.

Myth No. 3 holds that frozen green wood splits easiest, but this test proved true only when the pieces were straight-grained. Since knotty wood on average split better when thawed, the author suggested that you are better to tackle the typical mixed woodpile when you have the energy, rather than waiting for the right weather.

The fourth myth instructs woodsmen to season firewood for one year, or better for two. In fact, the length of seasoning required to dry hardwood to the 20% moisture range considered ideal for burning depends on the time of cutting (winter is best), and whether it is stacked off the ground and covered. With good conditions, most wood will be ready in one year.

Some species are worth more than others, is a myth commonly accepted. The fact is that a pound of dry wood, no matter what species, yields about the same amount of heat. However, since some woods are much denser than others, it can take a much larger volume of softwood (and hence more cords) to add up to the same weight.

Finally, Tresemer examines the old myth that chopping your own wood will warm you twice - once when you split it, and again when it is burned. Basically true, he says, but when all the steps are taken into account, each piece of wood is likely to warm you something like ten times over. At that rate, cutting your own wood is a cold-weather bargain!

Concern expressed over spills bill

- by John Eakins, MP -

One of the most written about issues during the past month has been the Ontario government's so called spills bill. If my mailbox is any indication, many people are concerned about a new law being introduced to protect our environment. Many of the writers are members of the dry cleaning business in Victoria - Haliburton and have expressed concern over this bill which is officially known as draft regulation relating to Part IX of the Environmental Protection Act.

The new legislation is designed to protect the environment from pollutants. The current history of the bill dates back to 1978 when the former government introduced the proposed legislation and the bill was given three readings. However, royal proclamation was not given and as a result, the bill did not become law. The bill requires the immediate reporting and remedying of spills of pollutants into the environment. It further provides for compensation for damages, losses, costs and expenses arising from spills and their clean-up.

As my mail has indicated, members of the public had some reservations about the bill. As a result, my colleague, the Minister of the Environment, the Honourable Jim Bradley, appointed a three-member Spills Regulation Advisory Panel to conduct an immediate review of the draft regulation.

The panel held nine days of public hearings in six cities, listening to testimony from 53 individuals, groups and municipalities. After casting its net province-wide the panel made fifty recommendations which will form the basis of the final regulation. In fact, Mr. Bradley accepted 41 of the suggested changes, 36 recommendations were accepted outright. Five other changes were accepted with conditions.

Insurance costs have also been questioned, but farmers, for example, who have placed their insurance with the 51 farm mutuals in Ontario are now covered for accidental pollution claims and have enjoyed that protection for years.

As the political magazine "Political Alerts" points out, "Of all the issues on the new government's agenda few command broader public support than tougher environmental legislation."

responsible for the mess things are in today. They are the bottom line when it comes to the beginnings of formed attitudes in men.

I said that if we took the right attitude and therefore taught feelings of fairness and justice to men, if our values weren't shallow, then we wouldn't raise uncaring, or illogical men.

I then took a copy of that letter and sent it to the World Peace Festival Contest in Kingston, Saint Laurent College, as my personal entry in that contest.

I would like to report the following:

The contest was Canada-wide. The basis for this event was the exchange of views in nine categories. Some examples are videos, music, poetry, short essays, etc.

This opportunity then presented me with a seminar for peace, and the guest speaker was an Army Public Relations officer from Ottawa. He called himself a "Peace Keeper", and spoke on subjects like the Geneva disarmament conference, and total power and numbers of weapons available to both sides.

I waited till most people had spoken, and then I asked my question. "Why isn't it illegal for anyone to kill?" In other words, why should Armies or Presidents, etc., be allowed to kill.

Since the goal of power is gold, there is gold to be made in the process of World Courts that could rival the gold made with war. Would it not be justice to try and make killing illegal for everyone.

The Conference for World Peace was over too soon, but the memories and the contacts I made, linger on. Peacefully yours,

Ms. No Wiebe,
Minden.

Education today

The fourth article in our series on Primary Education in Haliburton County is written by Mrs. Maraylene Welch, a teacher of Grade one at Victoria Street Elementary School. Mrs. Welch is recognized as an outstanding teacher of reading and her topic this week is, The Value of Reading to and With Your Child.

The Value of Reading to and With Your Child

When can I read?

How can I help my child to read?

Children and parents alike show their concern for reading. As adults, we recognize the importance of reading for us, but let us now consider the value of reading to and with our children.

Reading aloud is the best way to inspire children to want to read on their own. At the same time, it will provide the parent and child with much pleasure.

Bedtime stories introduce children to a magical world. Characters become good friends, or not so good friends, and events turn into happy or not so happy experiences. As our children listen to these popular stories, they begin to think creatively and critically, and develop skills of prediction and successful guessing.

At the same time, while in an enjoyable situation, our children are increasing their understanding of word meanings, recognition of relationships that exist between words, and have the opportunity to gain the insight that print, made up of groups of letters, form words having a purpose.

Just as important as reading to children is reading with them. Nursery rhymes, jingles, and finger plays are enjoyable and hold the interest of children while introducing them to the flow of language. Children develop rhythm patterns, parts of speech, and become familiar with the order of words in sentences as they chant along with us.

Sometimes children can call out answers, act out a part, or listen for rhyming cues. In every case, these ditties are work-outs which help children develop basic reading skills. As well, parents share in our children's sense of accomplishment while creating a climate that encourages further learning.

As our children grow older they become more interested in words, and so it becomes possible that while we are talking about the pictures we may find words in the print which tell about the picture. It follows, then, that similarities of words may be found in a game-like situation, and references may be made to their own names, which in turn is a personal reference for children to use as they meet new reading challenges.

Not only may we depend upon the use of books as a learning source, but we may take full advantage of the opportunities which exist in our environment. There are signs and labels everywhere -- the print offers children insights into the meaningfulness of written language.

For example, we can help children attend to signs so that they have the opportunity to make sense of print within their own experience. A stop sign conveys a distinct and important message to children - and getting meaning from print is the reason why we read. It is possible to relate reading to the environment and daily activities in so many ways.

Parents have the opportunities to foster reading skills through such media as clocks, calendars, menus and food labels, and sharing activities such as shopping and holiday trips. It is on these occasions young readers experience immediate success, and are able to share their pleasure with someone who cares about them.

Yes, reading to and with your children is a worthwhile experience.

Rowden wins Big Buck contest

Junior Rowden of Minden was the winner of one hundred silver dollars in this year's Tommy Williamson Big Buck Contest. The contest is held in conjunction with the Kinsmen Club of Minden and their annual Hunter's Ball, which is held during the hunting season.

Junior, who is a member of the Blairhampton Hunt Club, bagged a 248 1/2 pound buck to claim first prize.

Second prize went to Al Appleby of Don Mills. He is a member of the Ralf Club on the Bobcaygeon Road. He claimed the $50 prize with his 227 1/2 pound buck.

In third place was Don Hicks of Ingoldsby. His 212 1/2 pound buck earned him a $25 cash prize.

A popular disc jockey in the area, Tommy Williamson of Pickering, is the sponsor of the contest.

Committee reviews postal service

- by Bill Scott, MP -

The Review Committee on the Mandate and Productivity of the Canada Post Corporation tabled its report on November 18. The Committee, made up of business and union representatives held hearings and visited various postal facilities last summer. Its members also met officials of the U.S. and Australian postal services.

The main recommendation of the report was that Canada Post should be given five more years to provide Canadians with satisfactory service at a reasonable cost. If that fails, the Corporation should have many of its services privatized.

They found that the US Postal Service is 50 per cent more efficient than the Canadian Postal Service and recommended the use of more casual and part-time workers as well as contractors as a step toward improving productivity.

The Report suggested that two days should be the maximum delivery time for local mail. Another recommendation dealt with the Corporation's billion dollar plans to expand its parcel delivery and electronic mail services. They called these plans "speculative and risky" and urged that Canada Post concentrate on its main job - providing reliable pick-up and delivery of first and second class mail.

They suggested that labour relations at Canada Post could be improved by reducing the number of levels of management as well as by improving consultation and co-operation and eliminating restrictive clauses. Also they recommended the consolidation of the number of unions in Canada Post.

In the area of Canada Post's relation to the government they recommended the appointment of senior and experienced executives to the Corporation's Board of Directors to strengthen it and make it more independent. This new Board would have the right to hire and fire Canada Post's President.

To free the Corporation from political interference, they suggest that postal rate increases should be subject to the approval of an independent regulatory agency, similar to the CRTC, and not to Cabinet.

I am very pleased with the recommendation contained in this Report. I think they very strongly echo the feelings of Canadians across this country who are fed up with mediocre service at high rates.

Planning grants approved for two townships

A community planning grant of $6,113 has been awarded to the Townships of Somerville and Bexley, the Hon. John Eakins, Minister of Tourism and Recreation, MPP Victoria-Haliburton, announced today.

Speaking on behalf of Municipal Affairs Minister Bernard Grandmaitre, Mr. Eakins said the grant will be used to incorporate the two townships into the Victoria County Official Plan, as requested by both municipalities.

Community planning grants are designed to encourage municipalities to resolve land use planning issues to reflect municipal and economic priorities.

The grants may also be used for special studies to develop community improvement policies; to determine the feasibility of using data processing technology in the local planning process; and to assist in implementing the Planning Act.

Arson suspected in barn blaze

The possibility that a fire which destroyed a barn in Stanhope Township was deliberately set is being investigated by the Ontario Provincial Police and the Ontario Fire Marshall's Office.

The fire occurred November 28. The 16 foot by 24 foot frame barn was owned by John Orvel Harrison and was located at Lot 24 Concession 5. The structure was valued at $20,000.

In addition to the fire, police are investigating an incident of vandalism to Mr. Harrison's car. According to the police, the headlights on the vehicle were smashed while the vehicle was parked in his yard.

Constable Mike Maher is investigating the details surrounding the fire while Constable Bill Clendenning is investigating the vandalism incident.

Break-ins

At least seven cottages in the Watts Trail, Little Kenisis Lake area of Havelock Township were broken into recently. Police are unable to give a detailed description of what was taken in the break-ins other than to note several buildings were damaged as the intruders forced their way in. In one cottage, a fire extinguisher was discharged.

Constable Brian Dunham is the inveestigating officer.

Accidents

Slippery winter conditions once again claimed its toll on area drivers. Ten of the fourteen accidents reported to the OPP this past week occurred on Saturday and most of those were related to the freezing rain conditions.

A driver suffered minor injuries and a 1984 Datsun pick-up sustained $5000 damage following a single car accident on Highway 35 near Hall's Lake Saturday afternoon.

Darlene Johnson, 36, of Stanhope Township, was the driver of a vehicle which slid off the road into the left ditch, striking a sign.

Constable Joe Dorricott was the investigating officer.

Misses curve

A vehicle headed down a steep hill failed to make the turn at the bottom and slid into a rock cut causing $12,000 damage.

The car was being driven by Barry Cook, 41, of Calgary, Alberta. The mishap occurred November 30 on the Harburn Road.

The vehicle flipped over before finally coming to rest in the ditch.

The investigating officer was Constable Brian Dunham.

Car destroyed

Four passengers in a car were treated for minor injuries following a mishap Saturday on Highway 121 near the Hilltop Market.

According to the police, John Newson, 27, of Snowdon Township, was the driver of a car which crossed the roadway and slid into the ditch, rolling on to its roof. The vehicle was destroyed in the accident.

Riding with the driver at the time was his wife Phyllis, 26 and their children Victor and Victoria aged 7 and 8.

Constable Mike Legge was the investigating officer.

4 goals by Boice leads Juvenile win

Led by the four goal performance of left winger Barry Boice and the outstanding netminding of goalie Kevin Smith, the Minden Monarch Juveniles skated to a 7 - 3 victory over the host club, Beaverton, on Saturday, November 29. The Monarchs captured the win despite the absence of Lenny Johnston and Greg Newell who were taking part in a High School Invitational Hockey Tournament.

Centre Scot Hamilton opened the scoring on an unassisted goal at the 11:36 mark of the first period.

Four minutes later Barry Boice gave the Monarchs a two goal lead assisted by teammates Scot Hamilton and defenceman Boomer Stamp. Barry added his second goal from Scot and Gord Wood to end the period with Minden holding a comfortable three goal margin.

The Monarchs continued to pull away from Beaverton in the second period when right winger Bernie Upton scored at the 13:59 mark after taking a pass from Captain Jeff Howe.

Barry Boice notched his third marker of the game with help from Bernie Upton and Scot Hamilton to give Minden a five goal lead early in the period. Scot Hamilton added his second goal of the contest on an assist from Jeff Howe then with 1:55 remaining in the frame, Barry Boice knocked in his fourth tally after picking up a pass from Boomer Stamp.

Goalie Kevin Smith continued to blank the opposition until the 1:39 mark of the final period when the Beaverton captain went on a one man scoring spree, knocking in three goals in thirty seconds. His first goal was scored on a power play while Minden was playing two men short.

The game turned chippy in the last four minutes as each team was assessed seven minor penalties apiece.

Referee Terry Josephson handed out 46 minutes in minor penalties to Beaverton and 42 minutes in minors to the Monarchs.

The Monarchs have two games ahead of them this weekend. On Friday, December 6 the Monarchs host Bewdley, beginning at 8 p.m. at Minden Arena. On Saturday, the Juveniles travel to Sunderland. Game time is 8:45 p.m.

Rockcliffe wins squeaker 10-9 over Hall's

The Rockcliffe Foamblowers managed to hold onto a one goal lead and defeat Hall's Insurance 10 - 9 in a Men's Recreational Hockey League game played Monday evening. The win came despite a strong effort by Hall's, scoring four goals in the final frame.

In other Monday night contests, Vasey's Real Estate doubled on Hartwick Construction 12 to 6 and The Times continued their winning ways, taking Home Hardware 9 - 2.

Al Stender and Dave Brown led the attack for the Rockcliffe team, each claiming a hat-trick in Monday's action. One of Stender's goals was unassisted. Brown also assisted on two other markers. Additional scoring for the 'Blowers came from Joe Giles with a pair, Bart Hilhorst with an unassisted single and Jim Todd with a single and three assists. Single assists went to Rick Mansfield, Casey Cox and Dave Pettes.

Lawrence Lougheed was the big gun for Hall's, notching three goals and an assist. Ben Manuge and John Barkwell each scored a pair of goals with an assist being credited to both. In both cases, one of their goals was unassisted. Other marksmen included Neil Hutchinson with a single and two assists, and Murray Beetlestone with a single. John McAdam assisted on two goals with a single assist going to Kevin Webb.

The Rockcliffe team had led 8 - 5 going into the final period of play. The Hall's team scored two goals to bring them within striking distance of the Foamblowers, however, Dave Brown extended the lead for Rockcliffe at 9:12 with Jim Todd adding another at 6:11. Hall's added two more before the game ended but were unable to catch the leaders.

Vasey's win

A four goal effort by Brian Shaw led the Vasey Real Estate team to a 12 - 6 win over Hartwick Construction. Shaw also picked up two assists in the game. Other marksmen in the winning effort were Jim McKelvey with three, Barry Walker and Eldon Bull with a pair and Louie Reynolds with a single. Reynolds and Walker each assisted on other markers. Dave Dollo was the right man in the right place Monday night as he assisted in five of the Vasey markers. Other assists were awarded to Dan Reid with three, Kim Hamilton with a pair and Carl Northey and Dave Rogers with singles.

Leigh Bull was top goal scorer for Hartwick, notching three goals and an assist in their losing cause. Other scorers included Rick Salmon with a single and two assists, Pete Pearson with a single and one assist, and Kevin Hamilton with one. Assists were awarded to Peter Walker with two, Barry Ward and Greg Carpenter with one each.

Times victory

It wasn't until the midway point of the game that The Times ran away with the contest to capture a lopsided 9 - 2 win over Home Hardware. Up to that point, both teams had traded goals in an evenly matched contest.

The first period had almost slipped by scoreless, until Dave Hartwick put Home on the board with a marker at the four minute point. Assist on the goal went to Harold Cowen. The Times responded at 2:47 when Fraser Rogers scored on a pass from Jerry Campbell.

The teams again traded goals in the opening minutes of the second period, Tim Carrol and Kim Colliss scoring at 15:28 and 14:40 for The Times. The final marker for Home came at the 11:48 mark when John Dettman scored from Doug Rae and Dean Hewitt. From then on the contest belonged to The Times.

Three more goals in the second period and another trio in the third gave the team its commanding win. Scoring in the middle frame were Sid MacKeigan and Jim Keetch with a pair. Sid picked up another two goals in the final period with the third marker going to Ted Vasey.

Action in the Men's Recreational League continues next Monday evening at the Minden arena when the first of three games get underway at 7:00 p.m. Admission is free.

Rockcliffe player Dave Brown maintains control of the puck while caught in a traffic jam in front of the Hall's Insurance net during a Men's Recreational League game Monday. Brown picked up a hat trick as his team went on to score a narrow 10-9 victory in an exciting see-saw battle.

Frontier wins bon spiel for 2nd time

Seasoned curlers and inexperienced novices alike joined forces on Sunday as the Minden Curling Club hosted the second annual Businessmans/Womens Bonspiel.

Sixteen teams took part in the day-long event which culminated with the awarding of The Times trophy to the defending champions, Frontier Motors.

The winning rink was made up of skip Charlie Muli, vice Ethel Muli, second Dave Dollo and lead Dianne Dollo.

Placing second in the fun-filled competition was the Big Jer's foursome of skip Shane McKelvey, vice Kirk Taylor, second Corey Walker and lead Jerry McKelvey.

Third place was captured by the Roodenburg Realty rink of skip Bill Roodenburg, vice Sharon Kernohan, second Herb Roodenburg and lead Cindy Roodenburg.

The remaining teams in order of their finish were: Minden Home-All, Minden Texaco, Hall's Insurance, Moynes Furniture, Rockcliffe Tavern (2), Toronto-Dominion Bank, Minden Valu-Mart, Franzen Masonary, Highlands Plumbing, Rockcliffe Tavern (1), Minden House, Minden IDA Drug Store and Minden Times.

The Frontier Motors entry captured first place in the merchants bonspiel held Sunday at the Minden Curling Club. Repeating the victory of last year, the team was presented with The Times trophy. Skipping the winning entry was Charlie Muli, left. Other members of the team included, from the left, vice Ethel Muli, lead Dianne Dollo and second Dave Dollo.

Placing third in the merchants bonspiel was the Bill Roodenburg entry. Skipped by Bill, left, the team included, vice Sharon Kernohan, lead Cindy Roodenburg, and second Herb Roodenburg.

Ladies win bonspiel

A rink representing the Minden Curling Club captured the top honours at a bonspiel held at the Haliburton Curling Club on Wednesday, November 27. The rink consisting of skip Shirley Colliss, vice Sally Bonner, second Catherine Kellett and lead Mary-Jane Irwin was presented with the Pauline Brohm Trophy for their sterling performance.

Competition

The Minden Curling Club has been the scene of some intensive competition this week as the club hosts the Provincial District Ladies Tournament. Nine teams have taken part in the tournament which began on Monday and the action continues through today and tomorrow, Thursday, December 5.

This morning Lindsay and Oakwood meet with the winner taking on the team representing Minden in the afternoon.

The winner of that match will meet Beaverton in the finals on Thursday beginning at 9:30 a.m.

Winter survival tips that could save your life

We Canadians are a hardy race: cold and snow are no strangers. So it would seem that we should need little teaching in the art of surviving a Canadian winter. Yet every year, some of us will be found frozen to death in stalled cars or lost in a winter blizzard, and many more will suffer the effects of frostbite and exposure. Many of these cases are unnecessary, so here's a few reminders on preparing yourself again for winter.

The most important preparation of course is clothing, but for active outdoor sports you must look at more than simply warmth. Since the greatest danger lies in dampness, often created by sweating, make sure that your winter clothing is in layers, so that you can easily remove clothes to prevent getting steamed up while working. For warmth under all conditions, even when wet, nothing beats old-fashioned wool. And don't forget to cover your head, since so much of your body heat is radiated through its surface.

If you travel outside cities in winter, you should also prepare your car for a blizzard. If you become stranded, an emergency kit with matches, candles, warm clothing and sleeping bags, and a shovel could make the difference between life and death. If you travel frequently, a box of high-energy foods and a small stove are also essential, along with booster cables, a tow rope, and an axe or saw for firewood.

What should you do if you are stuck, and a friendly farmhouse is not close at hand? Most experts advise you to stay with your car, but Roderick Rieve, writing in Manitoba Nature, notes that the steel frame of a stalled car can quickly drain away the heat from your body. If it looks like you will be there for more than a few hours, he suggests that you find a sheltered spot in the trees nearby, and build yourself a quin-zhee. A quin-zhee, or snow house, is easily constructed by heaping up a pile of loose snow about 1 1/2 metres high. After the snow has "set" for 45 minutes, a hollow can be excavated into its core, leaving only an entrance hole on the sheltered side. Since a snow house offers superb insulation, its interior can draw on the relative warmth of the unfrozen ground below. With warm clothes, sleeping bags, and a candle, you may not be comfortable, but at least you will be able to survive just about the worst that nature can dish out in winter weather.

Self-help group assisting farm families - Ag report -

Mutual self help will be the most effective means of helping farm families through stressful times. This was the conclusion of a recent 2-day "think tank" session involving 65 people who represented farm families and most of the agencies and organizations working with farmers. This event, dubbed "Project Hope" was organized to share insights and plan new directions and actions to respond to the stress caused by the current farm financial crisis.

Ed Den Haan, chaplain at the University of Guelph and chairman of Project Hope stated "our participants concluded that large amounts of money and many professionals are not the key elements to compassionate help. The best place to start and build is with neighbours and communities developing mutual self help."

Concrete suggestions included: a farmer friendship system, compassionate peer advisors, an agricultural adjustment anonymous program and farm family kitchen forums.

The conference identified two major areas of support for mutual self-help: demonstrations of interdependence, and creditable services.

Participants called for and are planning more efforts such as Project Hope to bring together a wide variety of community insight at the county or regional level.

Existing advisors and support groups for farmers were identified as needing training in order to gain credibility in helping families in distress.

An interim report was prepared for the think tank participants. A full report will be available to the public early in January through the Jubilee Foundation for Agricultural Research, 115 Woolwich St., Guelph, Ont. N1H 3V1.

Junior farmers offer a chance

Each year the Junior Farmers Association of Ontario offers thirty or more Junior Farmers the chance to travel to other parts of Canada and even around the world, and live with other young farmers.

Junior Farmers can travel to such far-away lands as the United Kingdom, Holland, Germany, New Zealand and Australia. These exchanges are from one to six months in length. Other Junior Farmers remain in Canada or the United States and can spend up to two weeks in Alberta, Manitoba, Prince Edward Island, Indiana or Michigan.

Come and experience the thrill of travelling and "seeing the world". Contact your local Junior Farmer Club President, or the Lindsay Agricultural Office at 324-6125 for more details. The deadline for applying is early January 1986.

Mycotoxins in swine feeds

Pork producers should be on the lookout for mycotoxins when feeding this year's corn. Weather conditions all year worked together to provide an ideal environment for the spread of Fusarium moulds. These are the moulds which are responsible for producing mycotoxins in grain.

The two main toxins affecting swine are zearalenone and vomitoxin. Both are produced by Fusarium moulds but act in very different ways.

Zearalenone is responsible for the "estrogenic syndrome". It may cause the vulva to become red and swollen and interfere with the normal development of the reproductive tract. In severe cases there may be rectal or vaginal prolapse, infertility or small and weak litters born.

Vomitoxin causes feed refusal by the animal, vomiting right after eating and, of course, poor weight gain.

If any of the above symptoms appear in the swine herd, the manager should probably consider a mycotoxin analysis. Forms are available from the Agricultural Office in Lindsay. If you indicate on this form that feed refusal is a problem a vomitoxin test will be carried out. Otherwise only a general mycotoxin test will be conducted.

What do you do if you notice mycotoxin symptoms in the swine herd?

The first move shoud always be to get breeding stock and gilts for future breeding on to a different feed. Your cost due to interruption of the breeding schedule and loss of piglets could far outweigh the difference in feed cost.

Dilute the suspected corn with oats or barley and feed it to market hogs or beef steers. These animals show less of an effect from the mycotoxins than breeding stock. If sufficient zearalenone is present, however, even barrows may exhibit some rectal prolapse. If the vomitoxin level is high enough, there may still be a reduction in feed intake which will result in slower growth rate.

If the level of mycotoxins is not high, dilution of the corn by 5 to 10 percent with alfalfa meal may help to absorb the toxins and move them through the system faster, reducing their effect on the animal.

Most magical mixtures containing copper sulphate, extra iron and gentian violet have shown little or no benefit under research conditions.

Mycotoxins are more than just a nuisance factor. They are an economic problem. Swine producers should keep a sharp eye for mycotoxin symptoms in their herds.

A lot of people call life "The Survival of the Fittest". You know, a lot of people are right.

HAPPY 40th ANNIVERSARY

Peter and Christina Dollo who were married December 8, 1945 in Aldershot, England. Christina arrived in Canada, August 21, 1946, one of the many war brides who travelled on the "Lady Nelson" from Britain. The couple settled in Minden where their daughter Marianne and son David were born, completing their family.

Service needs drivers

by Donna Bailey

The county wide transportation program is kept very busy. In 1982/83 - 255 trips, in 1984/85 - 544 trips were arranged.

We have a convenor for Haliburton and area, Carl Doey, and a co-convenor, Bob Hollobon. Marj Sillars is our convenor for Cardiff and area. In most areas we have a small but conscientious group of drivers who are excellent, but in the Minden, Kinmount and Eagle Lake areas, we have a definite shortage of drivers to take seniors and disabled persons to appointments, shopping, visiting both locally and out of town. If you would be interested in finding out more about our program, please phone the Home Support office at 457-2941 any weekday between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. We can give you up to date information concerning the rate that is charged to clients and information on insurance which came as a result of our meeting with insurance agents.

If you are a Senior or Disabled person and are in need of transportation please feel free to contact our office. We do request that you give us two or three days advance notice so that arrangements can be made to fit your needs. Please phone the office to get information concerning the rate that is charged for transportation.

Just a reminder that we are still in need of volunteer drivers and runners for Meals on Wheels in the Minden area for any of their delivery days (Monday, Wednesday and Friday) and in the Carnarvon area on Tuesdays. Please contact the office if you can assist in this vital service.

Thanks to Darlene McElwain for the lovely trip she organized and ran through Home Support to Pickering and Cullen Gardens. From all reports it was enjoyed by all.

Branch 129 news

- by Gerald Irish -

The Remembrance Day Poster competition in the schools in our county is over. All the entries were excellent and the judges had a very difficult time making their decisions. Congratulations to all the students who entered.

The winners are: in Category 3...grades 4,5,6 - Julie-Anne Adams (grade 4) first. Chris Todd (grade 5) second, both from Archie Stouffer School in Minden. In Category 2...grades 7,8,9 - Jeff Anderson (grade 8) first. Dorothy Sanderson (grade 8) second. Both students are from the J.Douglas Hodgson Elementary School in Haliburton.

A reminder to all members of the general meeting at 8 p.m. on Thursday December 5, 1985.

There will be a Cadet meeting in the Legion auditorium on Monday, December 9 at 7:30 p.m. At this meeting all future Cadets will be measured for uniforms and also be receiving more information about their new Corps.

If you know of any family in the area in need of assistance at Christmas time, in the form of food parcels, contact the Ministerial Association at 457-2171. If any veteran is in need, contact Lloyd Whittaker at 457-1093.

Christmas is rapidly approaching and there are many activities taking place in your Legion. Check the bulletin boards for information about these events.

— NEW LOCATION —
behind Sears in Haliburton 457-3012

A quiet anniversary dinner turned into a family celebration as Morris and Loyas Henderson marked their golden wedding anniversary at the Wagon Wheel Restaurant on Saturday. The Hendersons were joined by their brothers and sisters, children, grandchildren and friends in a surprise celebration to honour the life-long residents of Minden.

Did you know?

Did you know ... that Vietnamese and Spanish newcomers will have an easier time adjusting to life in Ontario with the aid of two new guidebooks published recently by the Ministry of Citizenship and Culture?

The guidebooks are the latest additions to the Ministry's 'Newcomers Guide to Services in Ontario' series, now available in 20 editions and languages at your Haliburton County Information Centre.

The guides contain a wealth of information about living and working in Ontario. Some of the chapters address money management, health, housing, education, immigration procedures and consumer issues. The guides even include basic instruction on how to use the telephone.

The handy mini-guide format written in simplified English with translations running parallel make it easier for newcomers learning the language.

Seniors prepare for Christmas celebration

by Bruce Armstrong

The activities members response to the Christmas luncheon announcement has been brisk but there is still time to pay $5.00 to your convenor for a feast of chicken and an afternoon of fun. The time is 12 noon, Monday, December 16 and the deadline date is December 11.

A very learned (Walter by name) man wrote a little doggeral that simply means our euchre and cribbage players would like equal time with the bridge:

This world is a difficult world indeed
And people are hard to suit
For the man who plays the violin
Is a bore to the man on the flute"

The Drop-In Centre hosts the euchre buffs on Wednesday afternoons under the convenorship of Marjorie Peel, another very active volunteer. Friendly competition, a small prize incentive, fresh coffee and a smoke-free atmosphere combine to ensure a consistent turn out of seniors.

Euchre - "An American card game for 2, 3 or 4 players" is Oxford's definition, while Hoyle reports that euchre originated amongst the Pennsylvania Dutch prior to 1864 and that from 3 to 7 can play. Hoyle also calls for a deck of 32 cards or down to the 7, which may surprise some of the faithful, and notes that euchre gave rise to the game Five Hundred in 1904.

The distinctive word "Bower" is from the German Bauer (meaning Farmer) and other interesting terms are "march, maker, revoke, turn-up, trick and of course euchred." Some of the spin-off games are progressive, cut-throat, call ace, and railroad euchre where local rules prevail.

It is perhaps something to ponder, but one must be born a euchre player as there seems no need for lessons.

Our thanks to Darlene McIlwain for the wonderful trip she organized to the Pickering Town Centre and Cullen Gardens. The bus was full and everyone had a great time.

The Drop-In Centre will be used by the Ministerial Association for Christmas food parcels this year. The telephone number is 457-2171.

NOTICE
(FILE 13-85)

IN THE MATTER OF the Municipal Act; and IN THE MATTER OF a proposed By-law of the Corporation of the Townships of Anson, Hindon and Minden to stop up, close and convey to the adjoining landowners portions of the original allowance for road along the shore of Mountain Lake lying in front of Lot 9, Concession 9, in the Township of Minden.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN pursuant to Section 301 (1) (a) of the Municipal Act, R.S.O. 1980, as amended, that the Council of the Corporation of the Townships of Anson, Hindon and Minden proposes to consider and, if deemed advisable, to pass at its regular meeting to be held in the Municipal Council Chambers on Milne Street, Minden, Ontario, on Thursday, January 9th, 1986, at the hour of 10:00 a.m., a By-law to stop up, close and convey those parcels of land more particularly described as follows:-

Parts of the original allowance for road along the shore of Mountain Lake in front of Lot 9, Concession 9, in the Township of Minden, in the County of Haliburton, designated as Part 1 on a plan of survey by Bishop & Wilson Ltd. dated February 4, 1985. (A copy of the survey is available for examination at the Municipal Offices during regular business hours).

AND FURTHER TAKE NOTICE that before passing the said By-law at the meeting to be held at the time and place above-mentioned, the Council shall then and there hear in person or by his or her counsel, solicitor or agent, any person who claims that his or her land will be prejudicially affected by the said By-law and who applies to be heard.

DATED at the Township of Minden this 2nd day of December, 1985.

(Ms.) B.A. Millar, A.M.C.T. (A),
Clerk-Treasurer,

Don't forget the Rotary Christmas Bingo on December 17. We hear there will be all kinds of special games and prizes and a giant "Winner take all" game. It really could be 'More than just an evening out' try it, you'll like it!

We were very glad to hear that Paul and Missy Northey had arrived safely in Kansas City after a horrendous trip on Sunday due to the bad storms. The young couple spent U.S. Thanksgiving visiting with Paul's parents, Les and Audrey Northey in Minden.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Ron Davis of Foleyet spent a few days with Peg's family visiting relatives and friends in the area.

There will be movies for children at Minden Library on Saturday, December 7 from 2:30 to 3:30 p.m. Admission is, as always, free. Use the time away from the little ones to take in the lovely selection of gifts just next door in the Agnes Jamieson Gallery.

The library will be closed December 24 to 26 inclusive for the holidays, re-opening December 27 at 3 p.m.

* * *

Christmas movies for children can be seen at the Library on December 21 from 1:30 to 2:30 p.m.

The Paul Warburtons of Queensville spend Sunday with Jeanne and Milt Sears.

Winners at St. Paul's Anglican Church card party on Thursday - most lone hands Martha Mansfield. Others included Nora Briggs, Shirley Elcome (Men's), Mary McKelvey and Hilda Harrison (Men's).

St. Paul's ACW held their first bazaar in the new parish hall. The oil painting was won by Helen Cox of Minden and the gingerbread train was won by Keith Stephenson.

Congratulations to Peter and Christina Dollo who celebrate their 40th wedding anniversary this month. Chris was one of the many war brides who left their families and friends to begin a new life in Canada with her husband. She certainly seems to have thrived and with her husband, is well known and liked in the community.

Sympathy is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Ainsworth and other relatives on the recent passing of her father Mr. Waldron Clement. He was in his ninety-eighth year and will be fondly remembered by his Minden friends.

The following poems were submitted by our old friends Cliff Lacey and Yvonne Guida. We would like to share them with you.

The Time is Now

If you are ever going to love me,
Love me now, while I can know,
The sweet and tender feelings
Which from true affections flow.

Love me now while I am living,

Do not wait till I am gone
Then have it chiselled in marble,
Sweet words on ice-cold stone.

If you have tender thoughts of me,
Please tell me now
If you wait until I am sleeping
Never to awaken,
There will be death between us
And I won't hear you then.

So if you love me,
Even a little bit,
Let me know it while I am living
So I can know and treasure it.

Ode to the Coming of Christmas

O hark!
If you listen very carefully
You can hear the sleighbells
Jingle merrily.
And the Christmas hymn we love so well -
Hark the herald angels sing
Glory to the newborn King
Peace on earth -
Oh God, let it be so
So that little children
May live and grow
As they were meant to do.
Smell the pine and holly and mistletoe,
Taken from the forest
Where they grow.
And placed in the living room with care
In hopes that Saint Nicholas soon will be there
With presents for all.
But the greatest, most beautiful gift we can bring
Is the gift of love.
The presents piled high
Or not so high -
It all depends.
It really does not matter, children understand
When we were growing up
A few toys, candies and presents were quite enough
Sometimes made by loving hands
But we knew we were loved.
And so as the time draws near
And we can smell the turkey in all its glory
I say to all men far and near
Please look to your children
And families
That are so dear,
Let us have peace and tranquility
The way the world was meant to be,
And I give you a toast -
Joy to the world, it's a beautiful place,
For every creed and colour and race.
God rest ye merry gentlemen
God bless us everyone.

Yvonne

Hi Kids!

Here is another puzzle for you with a word list. Look in the diagram of letters for the words given in the list. Find them by reading up, down, forward, backward and diagonally. They are all in a straight line and do not skip letters. Circle the words in the diagram and cross it off in the list.

It's as easy as that. Have fun!

Q: What is the best way to find Santa out?
A: Go to his home when he isn't in.

Q: When does Santa stop baking doughnuts?
A: When he gets tired of the hole business.

Q: How does Santa make anti-freeze?
A: When he takes away her blanket.

Q: What bet can Santa never win?
A: The Alpha-bet.

Q: How does Santa make an apple turnover?
A: He tickles it under its stem.

Q: What is the difference between an old penny and a new dime?
A: 9 cents.

I have wings, yet never fly
I have sails, yet never go
I can't keep still if I try
Yet forever stand just so.
What am I?
A: A windmill.

Q: What vegetable do you find in crowded steet cars and buses?
A: Squash.

Q: What fruit will shock you if you touch it?
A: Currant (current).

THE BRIGHT GREEN CHRISTMAS TREE WAS DECORATED WITH GLOWING LIGHTS, STARS AND BALLS AND HAD MANY PRETTY PACKAGES HIDING BENEATH IT.

Well, Bert Harrison is still in Civic Hospital in Peterborough, so here I go again. We are all thinking of you Bert and wishing you would get back to Hyland Crest.

There were a lot of ladies out to Crafts on Monday afternoon. This is a social time and we sew or knit and make decorations on Monday and Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. Taylor of Haliburton Gospel Lighthouse took the chapel service on Tuesday morning. His message was based on the life and times of Moses and was very good.

Ruby Lewis returned to Hyland Crest after being out with her family for a few days. Jean and Harry Cowan come down every day to see Jean's mother Mrs. Gilbank. She is 96 and a resident here, who is quite sharp and an alert lady.

The North Road Chapel ladies brought us the tea party this week which was lovely and we sang Christmas carols after. Doris and Linda have the place all decorated and Christmas trees up so if we cannot get in the spirit of things it is not their fault.

Doris showed us a movie this week called "Helicopters Canada", it was an hour trip from East to West in Canada and was very interesting.

Marg Prentice and Tony and Terry and Larry Amyotte came and called and helped some with Bingo Thursday night. We always enjoy Bingo.

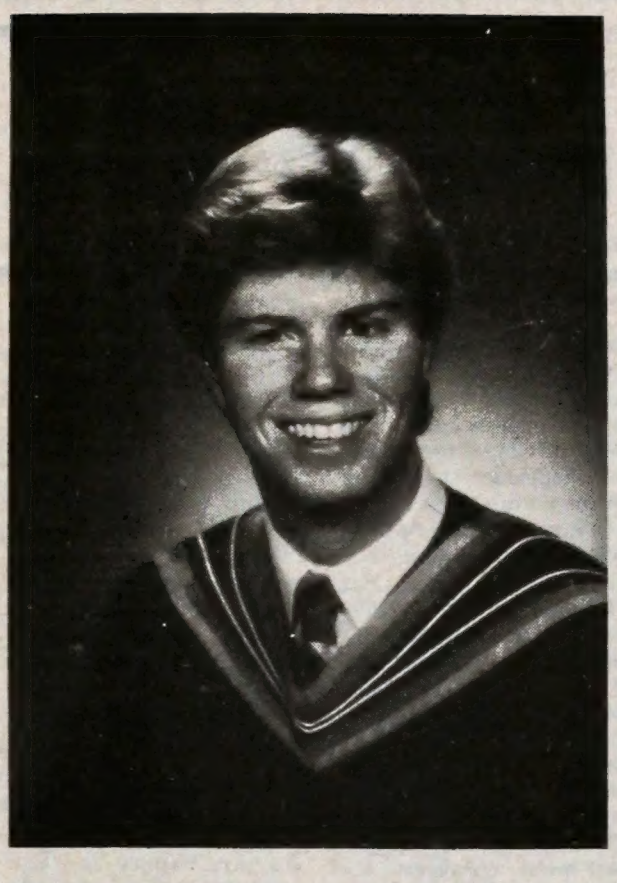
Friday afternoon Stephanie Wells came over with her "Alloette Products" and gave us all facials. We looked really nice after she got through with us. We all enjoyed this very much.

Lily Hogg had her son Taylor and wife Phyllis from North Bay to visit with her Saturday morning and for lunch on Sunday, also her niece Linda and her husband Hans Bueler. Lily was to go to Lindsay hospital for surgery last week, but they are so full at the hospital, hence no beds.

Mrs. Gilbank had her daughter and granddaughter from Woodbridge in to visit with her Saturday morning. Russell and Jean Hogg came to see their aunt Lily Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Prentice came in and had dinner with Angus Coulter on Saturday.

Well, I'm off to Parry Sound with my son Dave and family, so I don't know about next week's news. Take care everyone.



Neil Walker, son of Goldie and Irma Walker, graduated with a Masters of Health Science Degree in Health Administration from the University of Toronto at the fall convocation ceremonies on November 22, 1985. Neil is presently employed as a financial analyst at Northwestern General Hospital in Toronto.
